displays full expressions Besides clicking the buttons, you can use the keyboard, both the linear sequence of keys and numpad. What we find mostly attractive as well as convenient about Calculator Free is that it displays full expressions on results. Copy and paste large numbers The result can be copied to the Clipboard by right-clicking somewhere on the window to bring up the app commands bar and pressing the "Copy" button. In a similar manner, you can paste a long number to integrate into your calculations. If we were to mention some downsides, then we regret not having the possibility to load custom images from the computer to apply as the background. Simple and elegant Metro calculator Otherwise, Calculator Free is a Metro application that focuses on appearance and has the convenience of displaying full expressions in the output panel. However, if you expect to find scientific functions, you'll be disappointed. Skills: - Design - Programming - API Integration - Web Develop - Web Developing What is a Developer?
